

SENATOR MITCH FIFIELD

SHADOW PARLIAMENTARY SECRETARY FOR DISABILITIES, CARERS AND THE VOLUNTARY SECTOR
SENATOR FOR VICTORIA

MEDIA RELEASE

26 August 2009

FIFIELD'S HEARING: NOT BAD

Senator Mitch Fifield, the Coalition's spokesman for Disabilities, today had his hearing tested at Absolute Hearing in Dingley Village, Victoria, as part of Hearing Awareness Week.

Despite sitting through many hours of Senate debate, Senator Fifield's hearing was given a clean bill of health at the clinic.

Hearing Awareness Week runs from 23-29 August, and seeks to promote preventative measures to protect hearing and increase awareness about the new technologies to assist with hearing loss and deafness.

Senator Fifield was advised to consider ear plugs when in noisy environments, and was informed of new hearing aids with Bluetooth connectivity which can link with modern mobile phones and other communication tools.

For more information, visit: www.absolutehearing.com

EDITORS NOTE: Photo's attached from Senator Fifield's visit may be reproduced. Original copies are available on request.

Media contact: James Paterson
(03) 9584 2455/ 0423 502 147/
james.paterson@aph.gov.au
www.mitchfifield.com

Senator Fifield with audiologist Jack Leigh and Absolute Hearing owner Adrienne Blechman.

Senator Fifield having his hearing tested at Absolute Hearing, Dingley Village.